FBHPS announces upcoming film series

In recognition of the 250th anniversary of American independence, the Fort Bayard Historic Preservation Society has announced a weekly film series that will run from May 14 through June 25.

The series, titled "Crucible of Liberty: The American Revolution in Film," will be shown on Thursday evenings at the Santa Clara Armory building, located across U.S. 180 from the village of Santa Clara, next to Dollar General and Open Space Brewing.

Doors open at 6 p.m. with programs starting at 6:30. Admission is free; donations are accepted, according to a news release.

The series is highlighted by the showing of the critically acclaimed PBS miniseries "John Adams," which is based on historian David McCullough's prize winning book of the same name. Other titles in the series are "Johnny Tremain," "1776," "The Patriot," "The Man Who Wouldn't Be King," and "A More Perfect Union."

Each showing will be introduced by Doug Dinwiddie, Ph.D., president of the FBHPS, and professor emeritus of New Mexico State University, the release stated. The Jacob Bennett Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution joins the FBHPS in urging members of the community to attend the series as we reflect on the meaning and significance of the founding period of our country's history.

More information on the preservation society, as well as the film series, may be found at historic fortbayard.org.

May 9 Aaron Golay
8pm-11pm
Loud, yet tender with high energy, engaging live performances are what stand out with Aaron Golay. Aaron is an Idaho born and raised artist whose songwriting has formed a distinct shape over his first three album releases. A blend of Americana, Roots, Rock, and Soul make every song a story you'll immediately remember.

May 10 Joee Corso
1pm-4pm
Joee Corso's roots are deeply embedded in the intimate and heartfelt music traditions of Americana, roots, blues, and country. Growing up in New Haven, CT, he was captivated by his grandfather's band playing old Italian songs and his father's renditions of classics by Johnny Cash, Merle Haggard, Bob Seger, and the Eagles. These early influences, along with his love for artists like Jimi Hendrix, Eddie Van Halen, The Doors, Santana, Elton John, and Billy Joel, have shaped his distinctive sound.
